Brooklyn, NY/April 28, 2022—BAM’s annual DanceAfrica, the country’s largest showcase of African dance, returns to the Howard Gilman Opera House this May with DanceAfrica 2022: HOMEGROWN. Under the artistic direction of Abdel R. Salaam, dancers, drummers, and musicians take the stage together in a unique program that features five popular companies making return visits. Each company will offer their homegrown vision of traditional African dances.

Last seen at DanceAfrica 2017, Asase Yaa African American Dance Theater is a Brooklyn-based troupe known for its explosive African dance and drum performances. Marking their sixth DanceAfrica appearance, Bambara Drum and Dance Ensemble of the Bronx brings West African traditions to the stage in a high-octane performance. Rousing and critically acclaimed percussion orchestra and dance ensemble Farafina Kan (last seen at DanceAfrica 2012), from Washington, DC, shares the history and spirit of traditional West African drumming and dancing, blended with contemporary music. Bronx-based Harambee Dance Company (DanceAfrica 2013) reflects the majesty of the African diaspora through movement, modern dance forms, and live percussion. First seen at DanceAfrica 1992 (and marking their sixth DA appearance), LaRocque Bey School of Dance, the oldest African dance school in the US, will showcase its unique fusion of dance forms.

In five performances, each company brings to the stage movement and musical styles from Nigeria, Ghana, Guinea, Mali, and the Caribbean, supported by Arkestra Africa, created by members of each company. All will be joined on stage by the DanceAfrica Spirit Walkers and the BAM RestorationArt Dance Youth Ensemble, celebrating their 25th anniversary. An integral component of the Festival, the Ensemble symbolizes DanceAfrica’s commitment to education and community outreach.

BAM has hosted this beloved festival for 45 years, an unparalleled part of BAM’s history. DanceAfrica founder Baba Chuck Davis first put an “African Village” in BAM’s Lepercq Space in 1977, thus launching a now 45-year-long program that has become an enduring tradition with performances by national and international companies, community events, education components, films, visual arts, and an all-out celebration of dance culture across the African diaspora. More than 90 dance troupes from more than 15 nations have participated in this annual showcase, including companies from Ivory Coast, Congo, Kenya, Zimbabwe, Zaire, Benin, Uganda, Ghana, Cuba, Haiti, Jamaica, Peru, Zambia, Madagascar, Senegal, and the US.

A Tribute to the Ancestors ceremony will be held at 10am on Sat, May 21, at the Weeksville Heritage Center (158 Buffalo Ave). This traditional ceremony, which includes music and drumming, dance performances, and a libation ceremony conducted by the DanceAfrica Council of Elders, is an integral part of DanceAfrica that honors elders who have passed. The event is free and open to the public.

It will be followed by the annual Community Day at Bedford Stuyvesant Restoration Plaza (1368 Fulton St) at 1pm to kick off the annual festival. This year’s program celebrates RestorationArt’s 25-year participation in DanceAfrica with an awards ceremony honoring past and present instructors, parent volunteers, administrators, and ambassadors; and an exceptional performance by past alumni members of Dance Africa and current members of Youth Arts Academy; and more.
The Memorial Room is dedicated to preserving the tradition of paying homage to the ancestors of DanceAfrica's past and present and the ancestors of the visiting companies. The Memorial Room is located in the Devitre Lounge (Peter Jay Sharp Building, 30 Lafayette Avenue) and is open May 26—30. Visit BAM.org for times.

The 2022 recipients of the Samuel H. Scripps BAM Scholarship for post-secondary education will be awarded on the BAM Howard Gilman Opera House stage on May 27. Inspired by the spirit of DanceAfrica, BAM Trustee Richard Feldman launched the Samuel H. Scripps BAM Scholarship Fund in 2008 in memory of former BAM Trustee and arts patron Samuel Scripps. The scholarships exclusively benefit students who have participated in BAM’s arts education programs and plan to major or minor in an arts-related field of study.

The fifth Chuck Davis Emerging Choreographer Fellow will also be feted at the May 27 performance. Created to honor Baba Chuck Davis, founder of DanceAfrica, this unique Fellowship offers dance practitioners the chance to travel to Africa and study dance in its cultural context.

The month-long celebration, centered around the dance performances at the BAM Howard Gilman Opera House, also includes DanceAfrica workshops; the popular outdoor DanceAfrica Bazaar with over 150 vendors offering crafts, food, and fashion; a Choreographer’s Conversation; a stained glass art display; a film series at BAM Rose Cinemas; and a dance party at BAMcafé with live music. More information is below.

All performances will adhere to protocols developed in accordance with New York State regulations and in consultation with medical professionals for the safety of our artists, audiences, and staff. Visit BAM.org/Safety for the most up-to-date information.

Council of Elders Roundtable: Legacy & Preservation
With members of the DanceAfrica Council of Elders
Facilitated by Camille Lawrence
Sun, May 29 at 12:30pm
The Adam Space/BAMcafé (Peter Jay Sharp Building, 30 Lafayette Ave)
Free with RSVP
Since its inception, the DanceAfrica Council of Elders has been an instrumental part of the Festival. In this roundtable discussion, members of the Council will discuss preserving the DanceAfrica legacy and how their personal work creates connections between the ancestors, the art and culture of Africa, its diaspora, and the community that gathers at BAM each year. In conjunction with the DanceAfrica Oral History Project launch, this conversation serves as a gathering point and opportunity for the DanceAfrica community to ask questions.

Visual Art

“Be Lost Well (Stay in the House All Day)”
Christopher Myers
Dorothy W. Levitt Lobby (Peter Jay Sharp Building, 30 Lafayette Ave)
Located along the escalator wall
On display daily
Free
In this new work made of stained glass, “Be Lost Well (Stay in the House All Day),” artist and writer Christopher Myers pays homage to interdisciplinary artist Ralph Lemon and continues to unfurl his interest in employing a cross-cultural approach to his artistic practice as a forum to cultivate new narratives. Curated by BAM’s Guest Curator-At-Large, Larry Ossei-Mensah, Myers’ piece will premiere at DanceAfrica 2022 and remain on exhibit through BAM’s spring season.

Christopher Myers in Conversation
With Larry Ossei-Mensah
BAM Rose Cinemas (30 Lafayette Ave)
Tue, May 10 at 6:30pm
Free with RSVP
Artist and writer Christopher Myers is joined in conversation by BAM Guest Curator-at-Large Larry Ossei-Mensah to discuss Myers’ creative practice and his newly created stained glass piece “Be Lost Well (Stay in the House All Day)” at BAM. This conversation offers holistic insight into the Brooklyn-based artist and delves into the range of Myers’ work, from design and writing for theater with JACK & (Next Wave 2018) and dramaturgy for Triptych (Eyes of One on Another) (BAM 2019) to his solo exhibition this spring “The Hands of Strange Children” at James Cohan Gallery.

DanceAfrica and BAM Hamm Archives
BAM Hamm Archives continues to preserve the incredible legacy of DanceAfrica through projects with partner organizations focused on oral history, audiovisual media, and the 25th anniversary of RestorationArt at DanceAfrica.

DanceAfrica Archives in Action is a series of small workshops exclusively for members of the DanceAfrica Council of Elders to interpret, document, digitize, and share their personal collections. The workshops will be recorded, and digitized materials will be curated into a digital collection to share on the Shelby White & Leon Levy BAM Digital Archive, a program of the BAM Hamm Archives, and on social media.

DanceAfrica Oral History Project, in partnership with Black Dance Stories—a community committed to amplifying Black creatives' voices—documents the narratives of the people who have shaped DanceAfrica over its rich history. The collection begins with the DanceAfrica Council of Elders and will be available on the Shelby White & Leon Levy BAM Digital Archive, a program of the BAM Hamm Archives, serving as an essential resource to an international audience of scholars, artists, and fans.

About the Companies
Asase Yaa African American Dance Theater
Artistic Director Yao Ababio set out to establish a Brooklyn-based arts institution steeped in African philosophical values and authentic creative expressions, one that would play a critical role in bridging existing cultural gaps between Africa, the Caribbean, and the US. Under his leadership, the company has distinguished itself in the dance and drum world for its dynamic, high-energy performances and commitment to excellence and discipline. They have produced more than 17 concerts, including Djembe in the New Millennium, An Ananse Tale, and Africa, A Journey in Dance. Previous BAM appearances include DanceAfrica 2005, 2012, 2014, and 2017.

Farafina Kan
This professional West African percussion orchestra and dance troupe is dedicated to maintaining the history and integrity of traditional African music and dance. Under the tutelage of renowned artists like Mamady Keita, Famadou Konate, and Djimo Kouyate, the company seeks to sustain the work initiated by these legends through professionalism, artistry, continual learning, and proactive intergenerational transmission of African culture through music and movement. Founded in 2004 by Mahiri F. Keita, Farafina Kan is now under the direction of Mahiri's son, Agyei Keita, and nephew, Kweku Sumbry. Previous BAM appearances include DanceAfrica 2009 and 2012.

Harambee Dance Company
In Swahili, harambee means “let us pull together.” Harambee Dance Company pulls together the essence of African and African-American dance and music, presenting it from an innovative and exciting new contemporary perspective. Artistic Director and resident choreographer Sandella Malloy has developed a high-energy repertoire that draws on African-based movement, modern dance forms, live percussion, original music, and vibrant costumes to create captivating performances reflecting the majesty of the African diaspora. Harambee was a guest company for DanceAfrica 2013.
Bambara Drum and Dance Ensemble
The mission of the Bambara Drum and Dance Ensemble is to educate and preserve through music and dance the Black aesthetic, from its beginning in Africa to the present day and beyond. The group aims to instill traditional African cultural values while bridging the cultural gap between people of all backgrounds and generations. This unique company of "edutainers" has dazzled audiences throughout the US, performing challenging repertoires from West Africa, Central Africa, and Cuba. The company's energy and creative versatility engages audiences and allows each individual to become one with this experience. Previous BAM appearances include DanceAfrica 2004, 2006, 2007, 2011, and 2015.

LaRocque Bey School of Dance
Established by the late LaRocque Bey in the Harlem community in 1960, when it offered classes in traditional African dance for as little as 25 cents, the LaRocque Bey School of Dance is the oldest African dance school in the US. Today, under the direction of Brother Jerome Hunter, the school continues to provide cultural enrichment and affordable dance, fitness, and drum classes to both economically disadvantaged and advantaged communities. It has taught well over 15,000 students and worked with artists including Duke Ellington, Otis Redding, Debbie Allen, George Clinton, Phylicia Rashad, Savion Glover, and more. Previous appearances include The Soul Brother (1968), DanceAfrica 1992, 1993, 1997, 2002, and 2008.

DanceAfrica Spirit Walkers
The DanceAfrica Spirit Walkers were founded by Baba Abdel R. Salaam in 2016 to theatrically honor the ancestors of Africa and its diaspora through the annual DanceAfrica Memorial Tribute, originally developed by the late Baba Chuck Davis. The group comprises professional dance artists and musicians from the RestorationArt alumni and Forces of Nature Dance Theatre, melding African vernacular forms, modern, hip-hop, and contemporary dance.

BAM RestorationArt Dance Youth Ensemble
This DanceAfrica favorite returns to the BAM Howard Gilman Opera House for the 25th year. The ensemble serves as a symbol of youth involvement in the preservation of African heritage, celebrating both ancestral roots and the modern-day community.

Abdel R. Salaam
Abdel R. Salaam became DanceAfrica’s artistic director in 2016. He is also the executive artistic director/co-founder of Forces of Nature Dance Theatre (FONDT), founded in 1981. Born in Harlem, Salaam is a critically acclaimed choreographer and has served as a dancer, teacher, and performing artist on five continents throughout his 50-year career in the dance world. He has received numerous awards and fellowships for excellence in dance, including the National Endowment for the Arts, New England Foundation on the Arts, New York Foundation for the Arts, New York State Council for Arts, National Council for Arts and Culture, and Herbert H. Lehman College. Salaam and Forces of Nature Dance Theatre were honored with a 2017 Bessie for Outstanding Production for DanceAfrica’s centerpiece performance, Healing Sevens.

He is currently a director at the Harlem Children’s Zone/Forces of Nature Youth Academy of Dance and Wellness at St. Martin’s Episcopal Church in Harlem. The company also received the 2013 Audelco Award for Dance Company of the Year. Salaam has served on the American Dance Festival’s faculties in the US and Seoul, Korea; Herbert H. Lehman College; Alvin Ailey American Dance Center; Restoration Youth Arts Academy; and Harlem Children’s Zone. Inspired by Dr. Maulana Karenga, Salaam created Kwanzaa Regeneration Night Celebration at the Apollo Theater, now in its 41st year.
